Tomoko Ameyama Exhibits "Circle I, II"

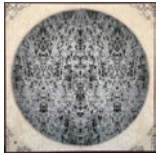

Ink-jet photoprint fabrics and handprinted ones have been combined into this novel form of art. Fabrics are pasted on hollowed-out paper to add depth to their assemblage. Each circle has a different scene inside, implying an accumulation of time.

Tetsuo Kusama Exhibits "HOKO"

My work is themed on Gion Festival in Kyoto, created by using paper cloths and coiling method. Recent awards: The 10th Marusen Cultural Award, 2013; Silver Award, the 8th International Fiber Art Biennale, China, 2014; Grand Prize, the 16th Okayama Arts and Culture Award, 2015; Okayama Prefecture Cultural Award, 2022

Hiroshi Kurauchi Exhibits "Festival of Cherry Blossoms"
"Cherry Blossom Garland" stencil-dyed two-panel folding screen, and five other works

Here I showcase my stencil-dyed folding screens with a motif of weeping cherry trees. I hope visitors enjoy the large difference in expression, which reflects my feelings and circumstances at the time of producing respective works, while their theme and techniques used are all the same. I feel honored and humbled to be able to hold my exhibition in the home of Yakushi Nyorai (Bhaiṣajyagurū) Triad, a National Treasure of Japan.

Kazuko Saeki Exhibits "From Fabric to Paper"

My work is made with hybrid Inshū washi, a new type of paper from Tottori Prefecture produced by mixing pulp for traditional Japanese paper with cotton powder obtained from waste fibers. Tapestries I made, with a special focus on colors and texture, are displayed in many public spaces including hotels and hospitals.

Manabu Hangai Exhibit "flower mandala"

Materials I use to create my works are things once thrown away by the society, which I bring back to life in my own special way. In this exhibition I express my view of the world of mandala, what Daigoji houses as its treasure. Materials used: Recycled materials (rush offcuts, waste hemp ropes, used paper); pigments; wooden panel

Ikuzo Fujiwara Exhibits "Ceramic Sculpture: Jaki Triad"

Jaki figures are side characters in Buddhist sculpture. Though originally being attendants to Shi Tennō (Four Deva Kings), they came to be interpreted as evil spirits against Buddhism because of their image of being crushed under the feet of Shi Tennō. In my Jaki figure creation, I attempt to release them from Shi Tennō and revert them to yakṣa in ancient India. I fired the exhibits in a traditional tunnel kiln to coat them with natural glaze, with a wish to help Jaki get back to nature.

Kenko Murata Exhibits "In Abundance of Light" and one other work

Life is nurtured by sunlight and water. Falling petals suggest transience of life, while lotuses sprout out from water to bloom large flowers toward the sun. I gold-leafed the relief representing light, while applying abalone inlay to the water section to emphasize spatial extent of its beautiful jet-black darkness reminiscent of outer space. Materials used: Wood, hemp cloths, Japanese lacquer, abalone shells, gold leaf, etc.

Harumi Yahata Exhibits "GARDEN202309" and four other works

Applying a wide range of dyeing techniques from traditional ones to those most advanced, I create expressive artworks with layers of designs. I also produce clothes, kimonos and various other products, with the aim of restoring contemporariness, novelty, and pleasure of dyeing forgotten along the way. *Some exhibits shown only until 28 Sep. (Thu.)

Wakako Yamaguchi Exhibit "Objet d'Art: Forest"

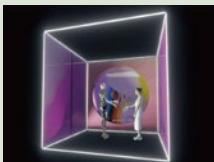

My work consists of rows of leaf-shaped motifs made of Japanese paper, paper threads and wires. I intended to represent a breezy space, where the wind caresses forest trees and rustles leaves and flowers. (Scheduled to exhibit at the annual exhibition of Shinseisaku from 20 Sep. through 2 Oct., 2023.)

Junko Yoshida Exhibit "Wave Shape"

My exhibit is made with washi (Japanese paper). Washi can be dyed in any color, leading to a difference in shade to surprise me every time. In producing this work, I twisted each piece of washi to highlight its strength as well as softness, and I intended to capture the beauty and brilliance of lake surface, which is created by nature, in the form of ripple waves.

The Consortium hopes to make this discussion a kickoff point to boost the SDGs movement toward EXPO 2025.

G 17 Kyoto International Manga Anime Fair (KYOMAF) 2023
Miyako Messe, ROHM Theatre Kyoto, etc. <https://kyomaf.kyoto/>
16 Sep. (Sat.) – 17 Sep. (Sun.) Visit official website for venues and schedule.

Publishers, TV stations, video creators and other exhibitors promote their latest works, sell merchandise and hold stage events. KYOMAF has now become a comprehensive opportunity for Kyoto City to support creators there, promote tourism and other industries, and elevate its brand value as a city of content business. The 12th KYOMAF this year also commemorates relocation of Japan's Agency for Cultural Affairs from Tokyo to Kyoto, and further efforts will be made to strengthen its information transmission ability as well as its brand appeal.

G 18 Tools of CRAFTSMEN
9-1, Okazaki Seishoji-cho, Sakyo-ku, Kyoto
Kyoto Museum of Crafts and Design (B1F, Kyoto International Exhibition Hall “Miyako Messe”)
23 Sep. (Sat., National Holiday) – 22 Oct. (Sun.) 9:00 – 17:00

Traditional craftwork requires numerous tools. They help craftspeople use all their five senses in their job, inspiring them to create delicate works as well as dazzling beauty. This exhibition showcases tools used by craftspeople, as well as tools produced by them for use by others, to explore the appeal of tools as partners of craftspeople. It also deals with the problem of decrease in the number of toolmakers.

G 19 Japanese History Witnessed by Confectionery
Kyoto Confectionery Museum
23 Sep. (Sat., National Holiday) – 19 Dec. (Tue.) 10:00 – 17:00

488, Kami-Honnojima-cho, Karasuma-dori Kamidachiuri agaru, Kamigyo-ku, Kyoto
Kyoto Confectionery Museum usually shows the history of Japanese confectionery with its permanent exhibition. Meanwhile, this special exhibition focuses on various periods of Japanese history from a viewpoint of confectionery appreciated in each period. The tearoom on the first floor serves the real thing of some of the exhibits as well as other Japanese sweets, accompanied by a bowl of matcha green tea.

G 20 Suwa Sozan I: Innovative Technique Revived
Museum and Archives, Kyoto Institute of Technology
25 Sep. (Mon.) – 28 Oct. (Sat.) 10:00 – 17:00

1, Matsugasaki Hashikami-cho, Sakyo-ku, Kyoto
Suwa Sozan I (1851–1922) is a ceramic artist active in Kanazawa and Kyoto. To explore the process of his ceramic manufacturing, this exhibition displays not only his works and his plaster molds inherited by his family, but also replicas of his molds produced by KYOTO Design Lab. with its 3D scanning technology.

G 21 “Oike Chakai” Tea-Ceremony Party
Main Building, Kyoto City Hall (Japanese-style Room, Seicho-no-ma Meeting Room, etc.)
23 Sep. (Sat., National Holiday) – 24 Sep. (Sun.) 10:30 / 12:30 / 14:30 / 16:30

488, Kami-Honnojima-cho, Teramachi-dori Oike agaru, Nakagyo-ku, Kyoto
“Oike Chakai” is a tea-ceremony party to be held at Kyoto City Hall, using its Japanese-style room as well as the large Seicho-no-ma formal meeting room. It is a casual party accessible even to beginners, where tea will be served by university and college students in Kyoto. There will also be flower arrangements, talk shows, and performance of Japanese musical instruments by the KYOTO Sustainable Network, helping participants get familiar with traditional Japanese culture.

G 22 Kyoto International Film and Art Festival 2023
Various venues in Kyoto City
13 Oct. (Fri.) – 15 Oct. (Sun.)

Host: Kyoto International Film and Art Festival Executive Committee
Management: Kyono Yoshimoto Co., Ltd.
The festival takes place at several venues in Kyoto, including YOSHIMOTO GION KAGETSU, HULIC HALL KYOTO and Kyoto City KYOCERA Museum of Art. Under the slogan of “Film, Art, and Everything Else,” it aggressively deals with all sorts of entertainment including those unprecedented. Supporter: Kyoto City Special sponsor: The Kyoto Shimbu Co., Ltd., Kyoto Broadcasting System Company Limited Sponsor and collaborator: Kyoto Prefecture, Kyoto Location Information Council For details, visit: <https://kiff.kyoto.jp/>

G 23 Hannan City Yagura Festival 2023
Around Hannan City Hall (35-1, Ozaki-cho, Hannan City, Osaka Prefecture)
1 Oct. (Sun.) 16:00 – 19:00

Some 20 yagura floats will gather around the City Hall for a parade. Woodcarving and tapestries of the floats which differ between areas are certainly something to see, not to mention how they are carried and paraded. There will also be a market held by Hannan Commerce and Industry Association, dealing with farm-fresh products. A Shinto festival is scheduled for one week later, which has a long history of more than 100 years.

G 24 To Make Everyone Happy in Their Daily Lives – Community Building through Agricultural Experience
Pointillism student group *Check Instagram for dates and venues
Tawara Area, Shijonawate City, Osaka Prefecture and other places

With our basic philosophy of “making everyone happy in their daily lives,” we engage in community building activities in Tawara Area of Shijonawate City, Osaka Prefecture, offering half-year agricultural experience from cultivation to harvest along with seasonal events. In the final stage of the experience, participants will enjoy meals made of what they have cultivated. A new series of agricultural experience will start from September in Suita City, Osaka, with upgraded contents and events.

G 25 Permanent Corner
Kyoto International Manga Museum
10:30 – 17:30

Karasuma-Oike, Nakagyo-ku, Kyoto
The Permanent Corner is designed to help visitors understand what manga is, with exhibits arranged according to subject such as history, society and industry. The wall bookshelves are filled with prize-winning manga from early 20th century to 2005, along with many other masterpieces of each period.
*“Comics in Francophone Africa” exhibition to start from 26 Oct. (Thu.)

G 26 Permanent Exhibition
KIYOMIZUYAKI no SATO Museum
9:00 – 17:00

10-2, Kawata Kiyomizuyaki-danchi-cho, Yamashina-ku, Kyoto
This museum is a successor of Kyo-yaki-Kiyomizuyaki Kogeikan (Gallery of Kyoto Ware and Kiyomizu Ware) since its relocation in October 2013. The building also has the office of manufacturers guild and a studio, along with enhanced functions as an antenna shop. Visitors can enjoy the competition of beauty among elaborately crafted ceramic works, which reflect personalities of individual creators and change with season and exhibition theme.

G 27 Permanent Exhibition
Nissha Museum of Printing History
10:00 – 17:00

3, Mibu Hanai-cho, Nakagyo-ku, Kyoto
*Reservation required
The museum introduces the history of printing from its origin to the modern age. It shows extremely valuable original items such as a clay tablet with cuneiform 4,000 years ago, Hyakumanto-Mukajoko Damnikyo sutra as the oldest print made in Japan, the first edition of Kaitai Shinsho (New Text on Anatomy) translated during the Edo period, Senefelder lithographic printing press and Heidelberg letterpress printing machine. A replica of Gutenberg printing press and a facsimile edition of 42-line Bible are also on display.

G 28 Permanent Display
FUKUJUEN Kyoto Flagship Store (FUKUJUEN Kyoto Gallery)
11:00 – 18:00

Shijo-dori Tominokoji kado, Shimogyo-ku, Kyoto
*Opening days and hours differ by floors. Check website for details.
FUKUJUEN is a traditional tea connoisseur established in 1790. The interior of its Kyoto Flagship Store, designed by landscape architectural expert Prof. Hiromasa Amasaki on the theme of “Kyoto-style garden,” has a small tsubo-niwa garden enclosed on each floor to represent the spirit of Japanese tea ceremony. Each floor also has “Kyoto crafts” on display, including works by sonetsuke (blue-and-white porcelain) artist Yuzo Kondo who was a Living National Treasure of Japan. In a sense, the entire building is more like a gallery than a store.
