Japan Annual-International Art Festival is a new global arts festival launched in conjunction with Expo 2025 Osaka, Kansai, Japan, with a mission to foster co-creation in art, design, science, technology, and the economy.

The 1st and 2nd editions were held at iconic temples and shrines in Kyoto, showcasing contemporary art, traditional crafts such as folding screens, lacquerware, and ceramics, and performing arts like Noh and Kagura. Programs included the "Japan International Art Festival Summit" and the "Official Participating Countries Co-Creation Summit", highlighting Japan's beauty and cultural spirit.

The 3rd edition will be held for six months from April 13 to October 13, 2025, aligning with the Expo 2025 Osaka, Kansai, Japan schedule. The main venue will be the Expo 2025 site, while a nationwide network of "Participating Projects" and "Collaborative Projects" will extend across Kyoto, Osaka, Kansai, and beyond. At the Expo 2025 venue, large-scale event spaces such as "EXPO Messe" and "Pop-up Stage South" will host art exhibitions and cultural events under the mission of "Showcasing the Pinnacle of Japanese Beauty and Spirit to the World, Shaping the Future." These events will take place throughout the festival, including on July 3, Japan Day, the official National Day of Japan.

WedJapan Annual-International
Art Festival in EXPO 2025 ~ Kagura ~

Kagura is a traditional Japanese performing art that combines dance and music, dedicated to Shinto rituals and ceremonies. It is inspired by myths and legends, performed with elaborate costumes and Kagura masks, accompanied by the rhythmic sounds of taiko drums and flutes. Since ancient times, Kagura has been performed as an expression of gratitude and prayers to the deities, evolving into unique regional styles over the centuries. Today, it is widely performed at festivals and events, serving as a symbol of regional culture and heritage.

Masaya EXPO 2025

Experience a unique fusion of Japanese traditional Taiko drumming and world folk music in a special original stage performance by Kenichi Masamoto × Wadaiko Masaya. This performance blends the powerful rhythms of Japanese Taiko drums with diverse global sounds, including South American Andean instruments such as the quena and zampoña, as well as the marimba, a percussion instrument originating from Africa and developed in the Americas. The event will highlight the dynamic energy and versatility of Taiko, showcasing its ability to merge seamlessly with different musical genres. In addition to the live performance, a hands-on Taiko workshop will be held, where participants will start with basic rhythms and gradually build up to an ensemble performance. This interactive session provides an opportunity for everyone to experience the joy of playing Taiko and the sense of achievement through music collaboration.

Further programs to explore the rich culture and artistic potential of Japanese Taiko drums are also under development.

"Gender-responsive and Inclusive Design Summit ～ Creating the Future Through Gender-Sensitive Design"

9/12
Fri

Aiming for a society where all women can thrive, this summit will showcase and promote women's empowerment initiatives in Japan and worldwide. It will address gender equality, a key issue of the SDGs, by bringing together global expertise to explore innovative solutions, new businesses, and urban development through gender-responsive and inclusive design.

The gender-responsive and inclusive design refers to the concept of incorporating gender sensitivity into design—from everyday tools and housing to urban planning and societal systems—to contribute to gender equality in all aspects of life.

This summit will serve as a catalyst for new products, innovations, and businesses driven by gender-responsive and inclusive design, ultimately shaping a future society where life shines through achieved gender equality.

World Parenting Summit

Tue

It is essential in today's globalized world to recognize that childbirth and parenting contribute to the next generation of our planet. This summit will feature lectures and panel discussions by distinguished experts from around the world, addressing various aspects of parenting.

Additionally, mothers and caregivers from different countries will share their experiences and challenges, highlighting the creativity, knowledge, and resilience of women in child-rearing. Participants will engage in discussions on parenting for a hopeful future, fostering a global exchange of ideas. This summit aims to bring together not only mothers but also families and professionals from various fields, inspiring a shared commitment to guiding the world toward peace and sustainable development with love and compassion.

Global Presentation

Wed

In Japan, mothers still face challenges in achieving higher social status. This initiative shines a spotlight on women, particularly mothers, by providing them with a platform to share their voices and ideas.

The presenters are mothers residing in Japan, who will undergo entrepreneurship education in preparation for the event. With the goal of addressing contemporary challenges, they will develop business ideas and social contribution projects, which they will present before an international audience at Expo 2025.

This presentation offers mothers a unique opportunity to share the real challenges they face and showcase their innovative solutions to the world.
